A company's business methods, customer list, and many other forms of digital data are valuable to them as they can sell that data to your competitors both at home and abroad. Broad opportunistic, scattershot attacks designed for mischief and mayhem have been ___ (148) ___ by sophisticated attacks that are advance, targeted, stealthy, and persistent. They include organised cyber crime entities and state-sponsored campaigns ___ (149) ___ to as advanced persistent threat (APT) attacks. These attackers are highly motivated, well organised and ___ (150) ___. These new cyber attacks are not a single event. They unfold in multiple co-ordinated stages, with calculated steps to get in, establish a ___ (151) ___, and survey the victim's network and ex-filtrate data.

The threat is almost the same because national intelligence is so important to an enemy. The business model is to exfiltrate as much intelligence data as you can. Cost to attack is ___ (152) ___ a consideration because the intelligence data is so valuable to your enemy. When it comes to protecting sensitive intelligence, the Indian government is not doing enough. The biggest challenge is that senior officials do not understand the seriousness of the threat or accept the ___ (153) ___ of the threat actors. Governments can ___ (154) ___ this by doing the simple things properly.

Implement aggressive threat awareness programs for everyone who uses a computer. Keep your systems current through enforced patch management programs, ___ (155) ___ and use the newest versions of malware detection programmes. Doing these basic things itself will go a long way.
